Dear Veteran,

To ask your provider (physician, nurse practitioner, physician assistant, or physical therapist) to order NUSHU, you can use your My HealtheVet account or talk to your doctor, nurse, or physical therapist about it at your next visit. If you do not have a “My HealtheVet” account, this video link will guide you through the process to register for an account. It only takes a few minutes. To get NUSHU, send a message to your provider with the following information (an example of what a request looks like is below):

Dear Provider,

I respectfully request a consult to Prosthetics for NUSHU, from Recon Supply, an approved VA vendor. NUSHU is wearable smart footwear for individuals with gait impairments that measures, records, and analyzes walking parameters and can assist gait through personalized haptic notifications and exercise.

NUSHU can be used in the clinic or at home, with gait data available for healthcare professionals to review to support patient management.

I learned about NUSHU through [other veterans with gait challenges / a NUSHU Clinic Day / other source], and I would like to explore whether it may be appropriate for me.

As you know, I have difficulties with [specific gait deficits, e.g., freezing of gait, reduced step length, gait asymmetry, impaired gait initiation, shuffling, or reduced foot clearance]. These challenges affect my ability to [walk safely and consistently / get around my home / participate in community activities / complete daily activities / other personal example].

I would appreciate your consideration of a Prosthetics consult for NUSHU to determine whether it may be appropriate to support my walking and mobility needs.
